Skin Protection

- It's not possible to avoid sunlight completely, but there are ways to help ensure you are not getting too much sun when you are outdoors:
- Simply staying in the shade, especially during midday hours, is one of the best ways to limit your UV exposure from sunlight.
 - Protect your skin with clothing that covers your arms and legs.
 - Wear a wide-brimmed hat to protect your head, face, and neck.
 - Wear sunglasses that block UV rays to protect your eyes and the skin around them.
 - Use sunscreen.

Sunscreen helps protect your skin by filtering UV rays, but it doesn't block them completely. Apply sunscreen generously, making sure to cover all parts of your body that aren't covered by clothing, including your face, ears, neck, arms, the tops of your feet, and your scalp and hairline. Protect your lips by using lip balm with sunscreen.

Sunscreen comes in many forms, including lotions, creams, and sprays. If you have sensitive skin, choose a sunscreen that doesn't irritate or cause a reaction. Always read the label carefully.

Reapply sunscreen at least every 2 hours, and more frequently if you are sweating or swimming. Remember that no sunscreen can protect you
